I acknowledge receipt of the username and password for the Cisco router supplied with my – ADSL service.

I also acknowledge that any changes now made to the configuration of the router will invalidate the integrity of the router’s settings, including those relating to network security, as originally configured by JT.

I therefore acknowledge that, by receiving the router’s username and password from JT, I have now taken responsibility for all aspects of the security and integrity of the router and any networks or devices connected to it.
